TeX cow

The left diagram shows a 1D chain of nodes. Each node is represented by a vertical line with two horizontal lines at the ends, forming a cross-like shape. The nodes are connected by vertical bonds (represented by vertical lines) and horizontal bonds (represented by horizontal lines). A star symbol () is located at the bottom left of the chain. The right diagram shows a similar 1D chain of nodes, but with a different arrangement of bonds. A star symbol () is located at the bottom right of the chain.

GREEN: Yes, Go ahead

WHITE: No, unless it is raining.

AMBER: Buy a better monitor/terminal

GRAY: Adjust your contrast/brightness control

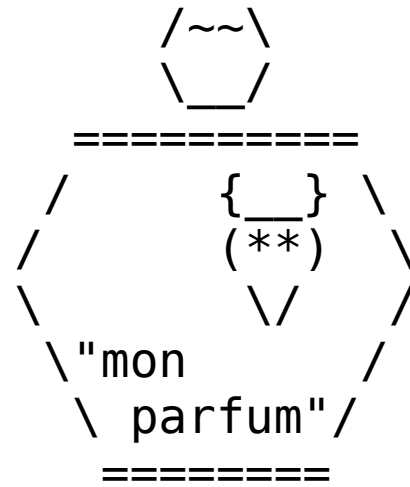

BLACK (on black): Turn terminal/monitor on.

BLACK (on white): Lucky git!

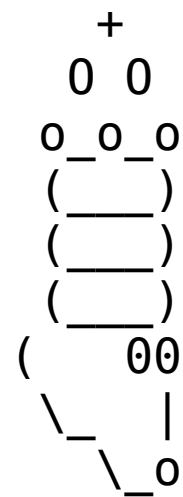

ANY OTHER COLOR: Send terminal/monitor to repairer's,

of Chernobull

. . . And now, the Golden Bovine Awards!

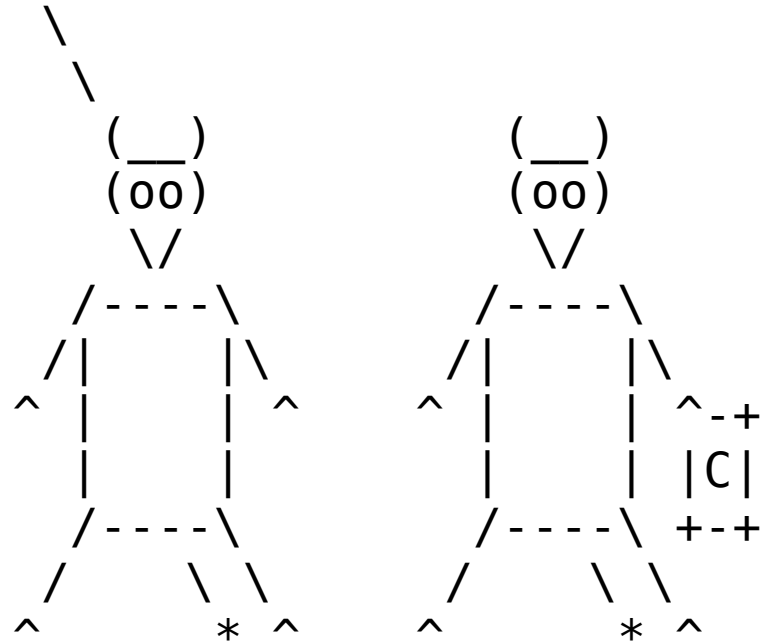

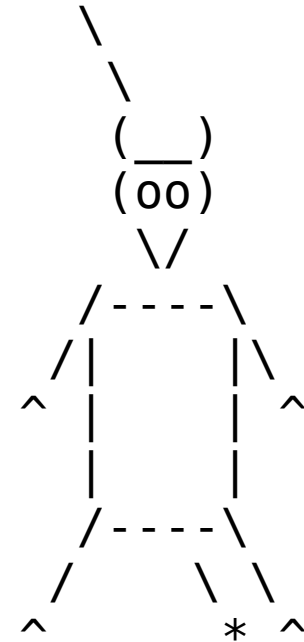

I would like to thank everyone who helped me make this movie, without whom I never would have won, especially, Farmer Brown, whose guidance and patience around feeding time helped me through the long nights of rehearsals and shootings, and Farm-Hand John, who used to sneak out at night to open the gate to the stud pen so that I could relieve some of my other tensions, and to . . . . .

...and with its onboard floating point and dual I and D cache buffers, the CLIPPER will blow the doors off of any micro in its class.

QUICK, ONE'S COMING !!!

Conehead Cow

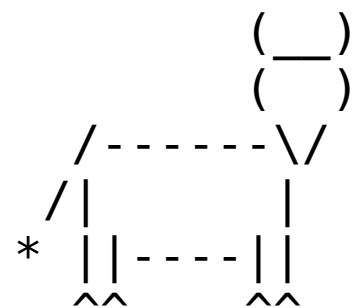

The scene is composed of several elements:

- Cow: On the left, a cow is represented by a series of parallel diagonal lines forming its body, with vertical lines for legs.
- Other Figures: To the right of the people-tipping, there is a figure with a vertical line for a leg and a horizontal line for a head, with the text "people-tipping" below it. Further right, there is a figure with a vertical line for a leg and a horizontal line for a head, with the text "people-tipping" below it.
